1. Bridges connecting Antung and Sinuiju are vital to transportation for massing troops. Another vital bridge for the same purpose is at Manpojin (126-17, 41-10). The destruction of these units would cripple troop movement in that area.
2. The railroad tunnel at Sangsanpong (Kamsambo - 129-50, 42-25) is vital since all railroad traffic must pass through this in moving troops south.
3. The tunnel at Yangdok (126-55, 39-10) on the Wonsan-Pyongyang railroad line, if destroyed, would make the railroad inoperative.
4. The Supung dam at Changsong (125-02, 40-30) approximately 2 km. south of the city, supplies electricity to Pyongyang and other areas in North Korea, and is also a vital target.
